

Our Community MY Future (OCMF)

Our Community My Future supports social cohesion through positive engagement of at-risk youth from refugee, migrant, and Australian born backgrounds.

The program's collaborative, holistic approach provides strengths-based case management and psychosocial support to young people in the community who face complex barriers to economic, civic and community participation.

The program connects young people who are at risk of disengagement and offending, with experienced youth workers and community mentors to provide wrap around support to connect and engage with the broader community and build skills for their future.

OCMF also offers young people a chance to participate in co-designing and delivering a community-based project in their local community to build skills and local networks, and support their education and employment pathways.

To learn more or to make a referral please contact:

Multicultural Youth Tasmania: myreferrals@mrctas.org.au (Statewide)

The Link Youth Health Service: hello@thelink.org.au (South)

Cornerstone Youth Services: programs@csys.com.au (North)

This inclusive program is delivered by:

The OCMF program will:

- Build networks of positive peer role models.
- Support social cohesions through a collaboration across youth services.
- Increase understanding and knowledge of education pathway and employment options.
- Build foundational life skills for young people.
- Build connections in the local community for young people.

your future

Our Community MY Future (OCMF)

Our Community My Future supports social cohesion through positive engagement of at-risk youth from refugee, migrant, and Australian born backgrounds.

The program's collaborative, holistic approach provides strengths-based case management and psychosocial support to young people in the community who face complex barriers to economic, civic and community participation.

The program connects young people who are at risk of disengagement and offending, with experienced youth workers and community mentors to provide wrap around support to connect and engage with the broader community and build skills for their future.

OCMF also offers young people a chance to participate in co-designing and delivering a community-based project in their local community to build skills and local networks, and support their education and employment pathways.

To learn more or to make a referral please contact:

Multicultural Youth Tasmania: myreferrals@mrctas.org.au (Statewide)

The Link Youth Health Service: hello@thelink.org.au (South)

Cornerstone Youth Services: programs@csys.com.au (North)

This inclusive program is delivered by:

The OCMF program will:

- Build networks of positive peer role models.
- Support social cohesions through a collaboration across youth services.
- Increase understanding and knowledge of education pathway and employment options.
- Build foundational life skills for young people.
- Build connections in the local community for young people.